

To: Egeghy, Peter[Egeghy.Peter@epa.gov]
From: Thomas, Kent
Sent: Thur 4/16/2015 3:31:19 PM
Subject: RE: Upcoming International Travel: mobile device needs

Hi Peter –

Thanks, this looks like very good advice. I wonder what the tradeoffs are for using and EPA supplied computer vs. IARC supplied.

Kent

From: Egeghy, Peter
Sent: Thursday, April 16, 2015 9:59 AM
To: Thomas, Kent
Subject: FW: Upcoming International Travel: mobile device needs

Hi Kent,

If you haven't yet done so, you should contact this person about an international laptop and blackberry. Also, please note that Kate and Dana can arrange for a laptop for you to use as well, which might be the better option.

Thanks,

Peter

From: Burke, Patrick
Sent: Tuesday, February 17, 2015 11:29 AM
Subject: Upcoming International Travel: mobile device needs

All,

EPA's Office of Environmental Information has published a policy on the use of EPA mobile devices (e.g., EPA laptop, EPA BlackBerry) while on international travel. I am the liaison between ORD travelers and the EPA senior information security officer for the IT risk determinations and the ordering of specially configured loaner laptops. We have added a "Mobile Devices for International Travel" description to the ORD Service Catalog to help you prepare for mobile device use while on international trips; an online form is included on that page to obtain a risk ruling. If the risk ruling is "no specially configured devices needed," standard equipment can be taken and used. If you need to carry and use an EPA laptop and mobile phone on your international travel, please use the instructions on the Service Catalog page to prepare for your trip.

Thanks,

Pat Burke

ORD/OSIM 515/569-7525